Building bridges between Turkey and the UK

Dear Friends of the Centre for Turkey Studies,

It is my pleasure to celebrate with you tonight's First Anniversary and Community Achievement Award of the Centre for Turkey Studies (CTS) in the UK, registered as Centre for Turkey Studies and Development (CTSD). Since its launch in 2011, the CTS has organised regular public policy forums in the Parliament, roundtables with London-based think tanks and networking dinners and gatherings across London. All events had mainly two key objectives: to serve as a Turkey-focused public policy forum for the British public and its communities originating from Turkey, and to create a dialogue between experts from Turkey and the UK with the aim to build bridges between the two countries and their peoples.

The inspirational contributions of our guest speakers from across Turkey's political spectrum have indeed enriched our understanding of the political debate in Turkey. The interest in Turkey's politics, its people and economic and political potential is just remarkable. Especially after having received such great interest in Turkey from the public - the full Committee Rooms at the Houses of Parliament speak for themselves - we have decided to continue our efforts and plan many more such events in the future. We believe that the CTS will grow in its ambition and professionalism as London's first policy forum and think tank focused exclusively on Turkey and its communities based in Britain.

This work would not have been possible without your support. I am therefore extremely grateful for all the voluntary support, time and advice you have given to the CTS. It is this engaged spirit of our communities that has led us to announce the First CTS Community Achievement Award in 2012. It is for this reason that we would like to recognise the outstanding achievements and hard work of individuals, businesses and community organisations originating from Turkey. The winners of the CTS Community Achievement Award have been chosen out of a list of hundreds of nominees which stand out for their outstanding contributions in areas such as health, arts and culture, sports, media, business, politics, non-profit community services and more.
Thank you once again for your continuous support and I hope that you are enjoying the evening.

Best wishes,

Ibrahim Dogus,
Founder and Director, Centre for Turkey Studies

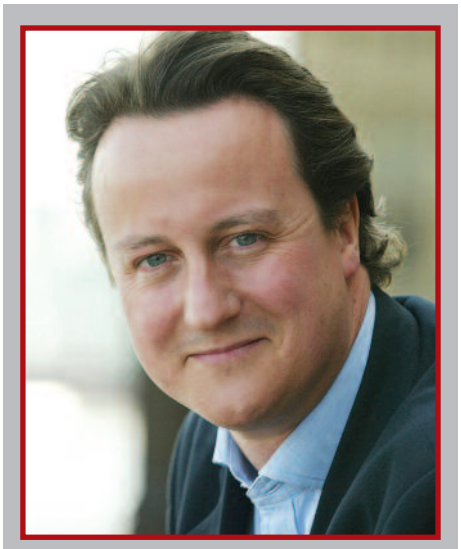
A message from the Prime Minister and Leader of the Conservative Party, Rt Hon David Cameron MP



Rt Hon David Cameron MP
Prime Minister and Leader of the Conservative Party

Anglo-Turkish relations have taken on a new significance in the past two years with the signing of the strategic partnership in 2010 and the Turkish President's State visit to Britain in November 2011. With hundreds of thousands of Turks, Kurds and Turkish Cypriots and thousands of Turkish businesses here, the Turkish community is hugely important in Britain. Our deepening bilateral relationship contributes directly to our prosperity and security.

That is why an organisation like the CTSD - the first Turkey-focused policy forum in London - has such an important role to play. I welcome the Centre's focus on relations between Turkey and Britain, and on Turkish, foreign affairs, economic issues and social developments. The Centre has made great leaps over the past year, growing in size and influence very quickly. Its Westminster Forum series in Parliament has been particularly impressive.

As Britain aims to strengthen its links with Turkey, and help the country work towards EU accession, the role of the CTSD remains as important as ever. I am convinced that the organisation will continue to go from strength to strength and I wish everyone attending this special anniversary dinner an enjoyable evening.

Best wishes,

Rt Hon David CameronMP
Prime Minister and Leader of the Conservative Party

A message from the Deputy Prime Minister and Leader of the Liberal Democrats, Rt Hon Nick Clegg MP

I am delighted to be here and would like to congratulate the Centre for Turkey Studies and Development (CTSD) on a successful first year. The work that you do plays a crucial role in highlighting the important relationship between Turkey and the UK and the contribution of the Turkish, Kurdish and Turkish Cypriot communities to Britain.

The Liberal Democrats are proud to have as one of our Peers Baroness Hussein-Ece, the first Turkish Cyrpiot woman to be a member of either Houses of Parliament. Meral has worked closely with Ibrahim Dogus, a founder of the CTSD, for a long time and has been very active within the Turkish community in London, including helping to establish the first Turkish Women's Group.

There is a highly entrepreneurial Turkish community here in London with many thriving businesses that continue to grow and reinvest. The CTSD does an important job of promoting this contribution and tonight sees us celebrate this, displaying just how the CTSD are able to bring together people from a variety of backgrounds who share an interest in Turkey's development and its relationship with the UK. Furthermore the CTSD Community Award is a fantastic initiative to recognise the contribution made by particular individuals and groups.

I congratulate the Centre for Turkey Studies and Development on its efforts over the last year to strengthen relationships, promote debate and become a source of expert knowledge as the first Turkey-focused policy forum in the UK.

Best wishes,

Nick Clegg

Message from the Rt. Hon. Ed Miliband MP, Leader of the Labour Party, to the Centre for Turkey Studies and Development

I am delighted to congratulate the Centre for Turkey Studies and Development (CTSD) on its first anniversary and on the excellent work it does, as the first Turkey-focused policy forum bringing Turkish, Kurdish and Turkish Cypriot communities together here in London.

I am proud that Labour in Government was a strong supporter of Turkish accession to membership of the EU and we remain so today, a dedicated friend and trusted partner. The Labour Party has been proud to have a strong and active Labour Friends of Turkey Group which brings Turkish businesses, civil society groups, media, and families together with our elected councillors, MPs and MEPs to take the very best of what Turkish people have achieved living and working in the UK.

Our Shadow Foreign Secretary Douglas Alexander, Shadow Europe Minister Emma Reynolds, European Foreign Affairs Spokesperson Richard Howitt MEP will continue to work tirelessly to press Turkey's case in Westminster and Brussels.

I very much welcome this opportunity to express my support for the Centre for Turkey Studies and Development, to your efforts to promote debate and better understanding about Turkey here in Britain and to play your own part in strengthening the bonds between our peoples. I especially welcome the establishment of the CTSD Community Awards as an excellent vehicle to illustrate exactly what is special about the Turkish, Kurdish and Turkish Cypriot communities here in Britain.

Best wishes,

-To act as a non-party political and non-governmental institution with the aim of providing expert opinion and advice.

CTS Launch Dinner, April 2011

The Deputy Prime Minister Nick Clegg launched the Centre for Turkey Studies (CTS) in London in April 2011. Over 400 guests attended the dinner including Lynne Featherstone MP, Simon Hughes MP, Tom Brake MP, Lord Clement-Jones, Lord Wallace, Baroness Ece, Lord Sharkey, and many distinguished guests from Britain's diverse business communities. In his keynote speech, Nick Clegg congratulated the CTSD for their vision and their aims to bring issues relating to Turkey closer to Britain. Baroness Ece and Lord Sharkey also spoke at the inaugural dinner and offered their full support for the CTSD. The CTSD is proud to have created London's first policy forum/think tank that focuses on Britain's relationship with Turkey and highlights the contributions of communities originating from Turkey to Britain's political, commercial and community life. The CTSD seeks to provide through its various roundtables, public forums and networking events a better and more comprehensive understanding of Turkey's domestic political development, its foreign policy, and economic growth.

Networking Dinner with Mr Douglas Alexander, Shadow Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs, September 2011

The CTS hosted a networking dinner with Douglas Alexander, Shadow Foreign Secretary, who discussed UK-Turkey relations, the EU accession process and democratic developments in Turkey. Douglas Alexander confirmed the importance of strong links with Turkey and stated that critical topics such as the Cypriot issue or the Kurdish Question should be openly discussed to find a long lasting and peaceful solution. Other notable guests included Eric Joyce MP and General Secretary of the Labour Party, Iain McNicol.

CTS Public Forum in the House of Commons on 'Democratisation in Turkey' in collaboration with the Foreign Policy Centre, October 2011

The CTSD and the Foreign Policy Centre co-hosted a public meeting in the House of Commons with an acclaimed panel of speakers including: Lord Alderdice, Nick de Bois MP, Firdevs Robinson (Journalist), Jonathan Fryer and Adam Hug (Academics). The discussion focused on democratisation and minority rights in Turkey.

CTS Westminster Forum with Cengiz Candar in the House of Commons, October 2011

Prominent Turkish journalist and columnist, Cengiz Candar, was a guest speaker from Turkey at the CTS's Westminster forum alongside Dr Ayla Göl from the University of Aberystwyth, Andy Slaughter MP, Jeremy Corbyn MP, Emma Reynolds MP, Eric Joyce MP and Dr Muhammed Kayani MP from Iraqi Parliament. Over 150 guests attended Mr Candar's speech in which he presented his findings of his report published recently by Turkey-based think-tank TESEV: "Leaving the mountains: How may the PKK lay down arms? Freeing the Kurdish question from violence". The panel also highlighted the importance of positive steps made by Turkey's incumbent government under the leadership of the AKP party regarding political reforms and democratisation. The discussants further emphasised the need for peaceful negotiations to find a permanent solution to the Kurdish issue in Turkey.

CTS Westminster Forum with Ali Bayramoglu December 2011

Dr. Ali Bayramoglu, acclaimed columnist, TV-broadcaster and academic from Turkey was the CTS's keynote speaker at the CTS Westminster Forum in the House of Commons entitled "Democratisation and Reforms in Turkey - What future for Cyprus?". Other guests included: Nick De Bois MP, Richard Ottoway MP, Chair of Foreign Affairs Select Committee, Simon Hughes MP, Deputy leader of Liberal Democrats, Academic Dr. Bill Kissane and Mr. Ilker Kilic of the Republican Turkish Party from Cyprus. The meeting was chaired by Cllr Ertan Hurer, London Borough of Enfield. Dr. Bayramoglu focused on the need for Turkey to advance its democratisation process and political reform initiated under the AKP government led by Prime Minister Recep Tayip Erdogan. Our guest speaker and panel particulalry highlighted the need to balance the civil-military leadership and their role in politics in Turkey.

CTS Westminster Forum with Hasan Cemal and Bejan Matur January 2012

Veteran journalist Hasan Cemal from the 'Milliyet' newspaper and Bejan Matur from the 'Zaman' daily, both prominent columnists in Turkey were keynote speakers at the CTS Westminster Forum in the House of Commons discussing "Democratisation and Reforms in Turkey: Achievements and Challenges". Other distinguished speakers included Meg Hillier MP, Keith Vaz MP, Eric Joyce MP and Lord Hylton.

Networking Dinner with Mr. Hasan Cemal and Mrs. Bejan Matur, January 2012

The CTS organised a networking dinner with journalists, community and business leaders from London welcoming Hasan Cemal and Bejan Matur, highly respected journalists from Turkey who have been covering Turkey's domestic politics and foreign policy for many years. The invited only participants of the dinner enjoyed Mr. Cemal's insights and anecdotes regarding Turkey's politics.

CTS Olympics Recruitment Event with the Cemevi February 2012

As part of its community engagement with British communities originating from Turkey, the CTS co-organised an Olympics Recruitment Event in partnership with the London Borough of Hackney and two faith-based organisations, the Alevi Cultural Centre and Cemevi. This was an opportunity for hundreds of people to be able to apply for jobs during the London Olympics in the summer of 2012.

CTS Westminster Forum Dengir Mir Mehmet Fırat, House of Commons, March 2012

The CTS hosted Dengir Mir Mehmet Firat, former deputy leader of AK Party to speak at the Westminster Forum focusing on 'Turkey's Path to A New Constitution'. Mr Firat shared his insights with a public audience in the House of Commons and spoke in detail about the future of Turkey's constitution and the path to democratization and political reform. Other panelists joining our guest from Turkey included Mr Virendra Sharma MP, Eric Joyce MP, and Michael Fallon MP.

Networking Dinner with Dengir Mir Mehmet Fırat, March 2012

The CTS organised a business networking dinner with Dengir Mir Mehmet Firat, Former Deputy Leader of the governing AK Party in Turkey. CTS and ISD Joined Eventy

The Centre for Turkey Studies (CTS), in collaboration with the Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD) organised a round table discussion on 16 April 2012 at ISD's offices in Mayfair. The debate was entitled Talking Turkey: Can Europe 'get on the same page'? and featured a high profile panel including former Downing Street Chief of Staff Jonathan Powell, ISD Senior Adviser Ivan Krastew, Senior Adviser at Gatehouse Advisory Partners Ann Wyman and veteran journalist and author Cengiz Candar from Turkey.

The invitation-only round table explored how the UK and the rest of Europe might engage more coherently and strategically with Turkey beyond the parameters of the stalled EU accession process. Some of the specific issues the experts discussed included the following questions:

• What a rising Turkey brings to the table from an economic and geostrategic perspective and for Europe;

• Turkey's perspective on the West in light of its geostrategic rise in the Middle East and its growing economic clout vis-à-vis Europe;

• The prospects for intra-European consensus on strategic engagement with Turkey;

• The major challenges that need to be addressed within Europe and Turkey respectively in order to create a more stable strategic relationship;

• The case for a new transatlantic dialogue with Turkey that moves beyond EU accession and NATO engagement.

Special thanks toFelicity Kaya and Cigdem Aslan and bands for their musical performance

Istanbul – born Çiğdem Aslan sings in many languages and regional styles, including Turkish, Kurdish, Greek, Bulgarian and Ladino. She has always enjoyed singing - something integral to her family life. While studying English literature at Istanbul University, she regularly performed Rebetiko, Sephardic and other ethnic music of Turkey. In 2003 she moved to London and joined Dunav Balkan Group, which alongside various workshops broadened her repertoire and skills. In 2008 she was invited by Jim to sing with She'Koyokh. She is currently studying music at Goldsmith's University. In high demand for collaborations, European tours and cultural BBC radio and TV appearances she also tours her own project "Songs of Smyrna".

Felicity Kaya is one of Britain's most talented young female singer/songwriters at only 21 years old, she has mature cutting edge vocal qualities that match some of the greatest both old and new that inpire her, As well as having fantastic qualities Felicity has a really great outlook on music and culture. Which has helped her develop her unique and very enchanting way of singing. Having a father from Turkey and mother from England has given her the amazing opportunity from both cultures. Her music is fusionof Jazz style singing, Latin beat and soulfil lyrics.
